The Mystique of our Winery

While the picturesque view of our 9+ acres of grapevines and the ambiance of a beautifully-changing landscape creates a destination site on its own, SchillingBridge also has on its property two unique draws: an 1890 circa limestone Rock Island Railroad bridge which links Pawnee City to her past railroad years, and an archeological site where the University of Nebraska's State Museum excavated in 1906 two Asian elephants, "Venus" and "Hamburg," which are currently on display at Morrill Hall Museum. Come and visit SchillingBridge where we are bridging the gap between our vineyards' past history while encompassing innovative ideas for our exciting future.

At SchillingBridge, we are committed to making consistent, high-quality, award-winning wine, hand-crafted from vine to bottle. Located in Nebraska's "Vinifera Triangle" the vineyards at SchillingBridge are in an excellent location for growing and ripening wine grapes. The vines receive plenty of afternoon sun as well as an extended ripening season due to the highest number of Growing Degree Days in the State—well over 3800! Because of our distinctive microclimate, we believe that southeast Nebraska is an area capable of producing world-class wine and have made it our mission to establish long-term relationships with small, exceptional vineyard parcels in our geographic area in order to create a stylistic yet diverse high-quality distinctive portfolio under the SchillingBridge banner. A distinguished portfolio that has been awarded many medals at the national and international level.

Introducing . . .

Our goal at SchillingBridge is designed to engage, excite and inspire people around the globe in a celebration of Nebraska-produced premium wines and refreshing estate-brewed beers paired with an abundance of fun and entertaining events! And what could be better than enjoying an assortment of culinary creations made with SchillingBridge wines and beers, served at one of SchillingBridge's distinctive events?
